Hinweise zur Korrektur

Bei der Korrektur werden ausschließlich die Antworten auf dem Antwortblatt berücksichtigt.

Korrektur der Aufgaben

Bitte kreuzen Sie bei jeder Frage im Bereich mit dem Hinweis „von der Lehrperson auszufüllen“ an, ob die Kandidatin/der Kandidat die Frage richtig oder falsch beantwortet hat.

Falls Sie versehentlich das falsche Kästchen markieren, malen Sie es bitte vollständig aus (■) und kreuzen das richtige an (☒).

Gibt eine Kandidatin/ein Kandidat bei einer Frage zwei Antworten an und ist eine davon falsch, so ist die gesamte Antwort als falsch zu werten. Bei den Testmethoden Kurzantworten und Richtig/Falsch mit Begründung zählen alle Wörter, die nicht durchgestrichen sind, zur Antwort.

Bei der Beurteilung werden nur ganze Punkte vergeben. Die Vergabe von halben Punkten ist unzulässig.

Akzeptierte Antworten bei der Testmethode Richtig/Falsch mit Begründung

Die Testmethode Richtig/Falsch mit Begründung sieht vor, dass für die Erreichung eines Punktes zwei Bedingungen erfüllt sein müssen:

1. Die Entscheidung, ob die jeweilige Aussage richtig oder falsch ist, muss korrekt sein.
2. Als „Begründung“ sind die ersten 4 Wörter jenes Satzes zu zitieren, der die Entscheidung belegt.

Das BIFIE empfiehlt im Sinne der Kandidatinnen und Kandidaten, Abweichungen von der Regel der ersten vier Wörter zu akzeptieren, wenn zweifelsfrei erkennbar ist, dass auf den die Entscheidung begründenden Satz Bezug genommen wurde (etwa, wenn 4 Wörter innerhalb des Satzes oder der ganze Satz zitiert werden).

Akzeptierte Antworten bei der Testmethode Kurzantworten

Das Ziel der Aufgaben ist es, das Hör- bzw. Leseverständnis der Kandidatinnen und Kandidaten zu überprüfen. Grammatik- und Rechtschreibfehler werden bei der Korrektur nicht berücksichtigt, sofern sie die Kommunikation nicht verhindern. Es sind nur Antworten mit maximal 4 Wörtern zu akzeptieren.

Standardisierte Korrektur

Um die Verlässlichkeit der Testergebnisse österreichweit garantieren zu können, ist eine Standardisierung der Korrektur unerlässlich.

Die Antworten Ihrer Kandidatinnen und Kandidaten sind vielleicht auch dann richtig, wenn sie nicht im Lösungsschlüssel aufscheinen. Falls Ihre Kandidatinnen und Kandidaten Antworten geben, die nicht eindeutig als richtig oder falsch einzuordnen sind, wenden Sie sich bitte an unser Team aus Muttersprachlerinnen und Muttersprachlern sowie Testexpertinnen und Testexperten, das Sie über den Online-Helpdesk bzw. die telefonische Korrekturhotline erreichen. Die Rückmeldungen der Fachteams haben ausschließlich beratende und unterstützende Funktion. Die Letztentscheidung bezüglich der Korrektheit einer Antwort liegt ausschließlich bei der beurteilenden Lehrkraft.

The sentence before the gap says that Emma went to Finland. In the passage after the gap, Emma says that she loved staying with her Finnish exchange family. The text says: "I was keen to go and I loved staying with my Finnish exchange family."

In the passage after the gap, Emma says you cannot be afraid of something, you have to do it, implying that in her case speaking the foreign language gave rise to an unpleasant reaction. The text says: "It made them laugh when I spoke Finnish but you can't be afraid, you have to do it for the experience."

The passage after the gap refers to the possible relevance for going on an exchange of being "really good" at foreign languages. The use of inverted commas indicates that this is merely somebody's perception. The sentence following reinforces this idea. The text says: "Some pupils worry that you have to be 'really good' at a foreign language in order to try an exchange."

The two sentences before the gap are about kids overcoming the language barrier when there is a strong need to communicate. The passage after the gap repeats this idea. The text says: "She believes that with boys in particular, their interests often connect them and the language follows once they are comfortable."

The paragraph is about an exchange that did not work out well. The passage after the gap refers to being in a social situation where you cannot easily decide to leave early, which is characteristic of an exchange. The text says: "Doing an exchange is like going on a blind date except you can't leave after the first drink."

The sentence before the gap is about a negative experience a boy had with his host family. The passage after the gap is about somebody speaking to the family to try to solve the problem. The text says: "Luckily, he was able to contact his teacher, who made some tactful suggestions to the family."

The passage after the gap and the following two sentences suggest how to treat an exchange guest. The text says: "The most important thing for the exchange partner is to see how a British child's life is on a day-to-day basis."

The passage after the gap and the following sentence refer to an issue that is important for all involved but that need not be a problem, implying that the missing passage is about a central issue that could be a problem. The text says: "Food is another concern, both for the hosting family and the pupil going abroad."

The two sentences before the gap are telling the story of taking a French exchange guest to the supermarket to find out what food he liked. A food combination is mentioned after gap. The text says: "It turns out French kids are repulsed by the idea of tuna with sweetcorn."

2 Lost luggage

The text says: "While it sounds staggering, mishandling 3.09 bags per 1,000 passengers actually represents an 8-percent decline since 2011." Since 2011, mishandled luggage has therefore gone down by 8 percent.

The text says: "A number of factors are helping to reduce the rate," he adds, including improved on-time performance and new baggage-tracking technologies." One of the reasons for this decline is therefore new ways of following luggage.

The text says: "[...] as airlines have zealously adopted baggage fees, there's been a dramatic drop in the number of checked bags." Therefore, passengers check in fewer cases because they have to pay for checked bags.

The text says: "One statistic that no one seems willing to gather or release is the amount that airlines spend each year to compensate passengers for lost or damaged baggage." Compensation statistics therefore have not been published.

The text says: "To avoid that fate, Sarah Schlichter, editor of IndependentTraveler.com, reminds travelers to carry on luggage and fly non-stop whenever possible [...]." To reduce the risk of your luggage not arriving, Ms Schlichter therefore recommends avoiding stopovers.

The text says: "You can also invest in high-tech luggage tags with radio frequency microchips." Chips that emit radio waves therefore can be found on baggage labels.

The text says: "Regional airlines like SkyWest (ranked a lowly 13 out of 15) tend to have the poorest records, while budget carrier AirTran comes in at No. 2." Therefore, mishandled luggage performances of local airlines are not good.

The text says: "He produced a juicer for Alessi, the Italian design company, in 1990, which evolved from a sketch of a squid and became so iconic it has been displayed in New York's Museum of Modern Art." This sentence confirms that one of Starck's earlier designs is on view to the public.

The text says: "Its [the juicer's] primary purpose, according to Starck, was to 'start conversations.'" This sentence confirms that Starck's intention was not to inspire people to think about design privately, but to start conversations.

The text says: "Photo booths make a picture of every important time of our life." This sentence confirms that Starck's latest project has to do with occasions that mean a lot of us.

The text says: "The booths also fit well with Starck's philosophy of democratisation - all his designs should be affordable." The text also says: "With all the economic problems we have, people will become very poor and for a lot of people it will become impossible to buy even the cheapest camera on the market but almost everyone will have a coin to put in the machine... and exist." These sentences confirm that Starck wants his objects to be available to as many people as possible.

The text says: "I have a sadness that in my job we will never save lives." The text also says: My father was a brilliant aircraft engineer and I was on a platform to make great rockets or something amazing and instead, sadly, I made a toothbrush." These sentences confirm that Starck regrets that his work does not serve a higher purpose.

The text says: "He pioneered eco-design long before it became fashionable." This sentence confirms that Starck was ahead of his time concerning one aspect of his work.

The text says: "The stools in the old booths used to move up and down, now the camera adjusts to your height." This sentence confirms that the seat height in Starck's booths cannot be altered; instead, the camera adjusts to the user's height.

4 American Dream

The text says: "It irritated her [...] but Roy hadn't been working here long and flowers were probably an extravagance he could ill afford." When Jess met Roy, she therefore tried to understand his situation.

The text says: "With his baseball cap and thickening waistline, he now bore more resemblance to a middle-aged tourist than the thirty-year-old research scientist who had taken his leave of her at Glasgow Airport six months before." When Jess looked at Roy, she therefore realized that he had changed in a relatively short time.

The text says: "He followed her gaze and clapped his belly with a chuckle. 'No time for the gym - work late most nights. And junk food galore, of course.'" Therefore, concerning New York, Roy thought that working there made it hard to have a healthy lifestyle.

The text says: "Jess was more than ready to fall head over heels in love with New York but staying there for good was another matter entirely." Therefore, concerning New York, Jess thought that she would enjoy discovering it.

The text says: "'How are you going to kill time this week while I'm at work?' [...]"

'Get the City Pass and do the sights,' she replied.

'You can't be serious, Jess! That costs a fortune!'"

Jess's plans for her week in New York therefore included spending money on things Roy disapproved of.

The text says: "To be sure, Jess had been expecting the worst; on his abysmal salary, Roy would obviously only be able to afford the cheapest of apartments. But his tiny bedsit was virtually a hovel. The fact that the single barred window gave on to a brick wall was what disturbed her the most; so much for the land of freedom!" Therefore, concerning apartments in New York, Jess had imagined that Roy's would be nicer than it actually was.

The text says: "Sensing that he was willing her to turn a blind eye to the squalor, she accepted the offer of his narrow bed with grace and without comment, while he squeezed a place for himself on the floor." Jess was therefore prepared to keep her thoughts to herself.

The text says: "She lay awake, listening to [...] at last rhythmical snoring. She turned over and gazed down at Roy." Roy was therefore observed by Jess without him knowing.
