

...

...

The figure displays a 3x10 grid of dot patterns. Each row contains a different style of digit representation: the top row is standard, the middle row is slanted, and the bottom row is italicized. Each column represents a digit from 0 to 9. The patterns are composed of black dots on a white background, with some digits having multiple dots to form their shape.

